The dispatches from Baltimore make clear a fact that must have been evident to every person who that must have been evident to every person who has given a thought to the impending selection of a Superintendent of Schools by the Board of Edu-cation, namely, that so distinguished an educator Dr. Daniel C. Gilman, president of Johns Hopkins University, cannot be induced to devote himself to the service of the public school system of this city if the office to which he is called is to be even partially stripped of its authority or if he is even partially suppose of the public schools with all not to be the med of the profile schools with at had consented to the use of his name in connection with the office of Superintendent aroused, as might have been expected, widespread comment and satisfaction among those who are interested in the ad-Gilman has gone just as far in the matter, it is thought, as one in his position could well do, and in conveying, through Commissioner Peaslee, his consent to the use of his name, he practically agreed to accept the superintendency in case of his election the eto.

While the division of the office and duties of the head of the schools of New-York would amost certainly result in the loss of Dr. Gilman's services, that division is thought to be most improbable, since the Board referred a resolution to that effect to a committee a majority of which is known to favor the selection of Dr. Gilman.

One of the commissioners, who has been, perhaps st instrumental in securing Dr. Gilman's consent the use of his name said to a Tribune reporter tion recommending the creation of a supervisor of pedagogics was referred to a committee cannot be regarded against the enoice of Dr. Gliman, as the commissioner who made the motion, and who has commissioner who made the motion, and who has been understood as favoring Mr. Jasper's re-election, knew that a majority of the committee was in favor of Dr. Gliman. It is quite possible, too, that some of the commissioners who favored establishing a double head for the schools did not at the time understand how fatal that would be to our chances of securing a man of Dr. Gliman's ability and reputation.

The opportunity now open to the citizens of New-York is a great one. Dr. Gliman has laid the foundations for Sheffield Scientific School and Johns foundations for Sheffield Scientific School and Johns Hopkins University. We want him to lay the foundations of the school system of the Greater New-York, but it is not necessary that he should put in slace every brick in the structure." tion recommending the creation of a supervisor

The proposition to elect President Gilman was a new one, and we were not in a position man was a new one, and we were not in a position man was a new one, and we were not in a position to each that time. There were a number of details to be investigated, relating, some of them, to the conditions upon which Dr. Gilman would accept an election. ### DR. GILMAN IS NEEDED.

To the Editor of The Tribune. Sir: I have read with much interest the suggestion that Dr. Gliman, president of the Johns Hopkins University, might be induced to accept the office of Superintendent of our public schools. It would be most fortunate if this could be brought about, and especially so at this interesting period, when our ool system is about to be placed upon a more

I have known Dr. Gilman for more than forty years. We served together as commissioners to the Paris Exposition in 1856, and since that time I have watched his steadily growing influence and power in all matters affecting public education. I would regard it as a great public misfortune if this opportunity to secure Dr. Gilman's services should fall of success, for, independent of his exalted character and large experience, he is one of the ripest and best-known scholars in the country.

ANNUITIES FOR SCHOOL TEACHERS.

AN ASSESSMENT PLAN BEING ORGANIZED IN CONNECTICUT.

Waterbury, Conn., May 22.-The teachers in the public schools of Waterbury are taking much in-terest in a project which is now on foot for the organization of the Connecticut Teachers' Annuity Guild. The object of the proposed guild is to provide annuities for its members, and the government of the organization is to be vested in a board of of the organization is to be vested in a board of trustees to be chosen by counties, the basis of representation being one trustee for each fifty members. An annual assessment of 1 per cent on the salary of each member is to be levied, provided the salary does not exceed $1,000. In case the salary is more than $1,000 the assessment is to be $10 plus $50 cents for each $150 in excess of $1,000. Members who become physically or mentally incapacitated for school work or who have served thirty years, will be entitled to annuities. The annuities are to be $50 per cent of the salary at the time of retirement, but no annuity is to the salary at the salary at the time of retirement, but no annuity is to the salary at the salary

The movement is attracting much attention among teachers throughout the State, and it is believed that the proposed guild will be a success.

WANT TO KEEP DR. GILMAN METHODISTS IN CONFERENCE

SETTLING OF A VEXED QUESTION OF EPISCOPAL RESIDENCE.

ACTION OF TWO BISHOPS CRITICISED-EDITORS

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] Cleveland, May 22.—The Methodist General Con-ference had before it to-day an interesting question in the form of a report from the Committee on the Episcopacy laying down the principles on which the When the Conference adjourned yesterday it had decided on all the places of episcopal residence except one. Portland, Ore., was named by the com-mittee, but amendments were pending in favor of Tacoma, Wash., and Shanghai, China. After several speeches had been made this morning in favor of Portland, the amendments were laid on the table and Portland was chosen.

Dr. Buckley then presented the report of the Committee on the Episcopacy on the principles and methods of fixing the episcopal residences. The methods of fixing the episcopal residences. The five items of the report were as follows:

1. Episcopal residences shall be designated quadrennially by the General Conference.

2. The number of places so designated shall not exceed the number of effective bishops.

3. The bishops shall select their residences according to seniority of their election, but no place shall be open to selection which is already occupied by an effective bishop.

4. When a place has been designated by the General Conference as an episcopal residence and has been chosen by an effective bishop such bishop shall be required to reside at that place.

5. Episcopal residences outside of the United States shall be occupied only by such effective bishops as shall be nominated by the Committee on Episcopacy and approved by the General Conference.

The first and second items were adopted without discussion. The third item gave rise to a spirited debate. Dr. A. J. Kynett opposed it on the ground that it gave the bishops a life tenure of place as well as of office. It would prove unsatisfactory to the bishops and to the Church at large. At each General Conference all the places of episcopal residence ought to be thrown open and the General Conference ought to make the assignments itself and not leave it to the bishops. It was a question of too great delicacy for them to decide. The gen-eral superintendents were the only men in the itin-

Dr. C. J. Little thought that the changes proposed would only create confusion. Motions to recommit and to amend by striking out all after the word 'election" and insert the word "quadrennially" were defeated; also a substitute proposed by Dr. Kynett providing that the General Conference should make the assignment of bishops to residences on the nomination of the Committee on the Episcopacy. The occasion for this item of the report was a new application of the principle of selection. Bishop Fowler, who had been at San Francisco, cho Minneapolis, thereby dispossessing Bishop Fitzgerald, and Bishop Mallalieu, who wanted to leave New-Orleans, chose Buffalo, compelling Bishop Vincent to move to Topeka. This was an innovation. Previously, whenever changes were made only those places which were vacant were chosen. There was no doubt that the action of Bishops Fowler and Mallalleu was legal, but it was disturbing, and the committee sought by the latter half of the third item to prevent it from being taken again. There was some question if the Conference would not have voted to accept Dr. Kynett's substitute when Dr. Buckley took the floor as chairman of the committee to defend the report. He said the notice served by Bishop Fowler on Bishop Fitzgerald, and by Bishop Mallalieu on Bishop Vincent to move out was undoubtedly legal; so was Shylock's demand for the pound of flesh. But it was not wise. The proposal that the Committee on Episcopacy nominate the men for the various residences would make difficulties. The committee would be besieged with appeals and requests for this and that bishop and it would not be able to act impartially. The vote was then taken and the item of the report was adopted unchanged. The fourth item was adopted without discussion and the fifth was with-

Blishop Goodsell, at his own request, was excused from further attendance in order that he may prepare for an official trip to the missions in Europe.

On motion of Dr. T. B. Neeley, members of annual conferences not present at the annual session will not be allowed to have their votes counted in the election of delegates to the General Conference or on constitutional amendments; and by a resolution of Dr. Kynett, the bishops and the chairmen of the standing committees were appointed to nominate members for the missionary and other boards of the Church. The Committee on General Conference Districts reported a plan proposing to divide the annual conference into fourteen districts. Few changes were made.

The elections were almost completed. Dr. Jesse L. Hurlbut was re-elected corresponding secretary of the Sunday-School Union and Tract Society, he got 256 votes to 63 for Dr. W. N. Brodbeck and 59 for Dr. C. E. W. Coxe. Dr. Charles H. Payne was re-elected secretary of the Board of Education, with slight opposition. There being no more secretaries to elect, the Conference proceeded to the election of editors of Church periodicula. The following were chosen: Edition of "The Methodist Retire" Dr. William V. Kelly, who got 255 votes to 12 for Professor M. S. Terry and 56 for Professor R. J. Cooke: Editor of "The Christian Advocate." Dr. J. M. Buck-ley, who got 41 out of 46: Editor of "The West-ern Christian Advocate." Dr. David H. Moore: of "The Northwestern," Dr. A. Arthur Edwards; of "The Central." Dr. J. B. Young: of "The Pittsburg." Dr. C. W. Smith; of "The Southwestern." Dr. I. B. Scott, in place of Dr. E. W. S. Hammond, colored; of "The Christian Apologist," Dr. A. J. Nast. This leaves only two more elections for to-morrow.

The announcement of the election for Dr. Buckley gave rise to a most remarkable scene. Storm after storm of applause swept over the Conference, and the delegates could not be quieted until the popular editor took the platform. He simply said: "I construe this election into leave to print."

CHAT ABOUT PROMINENT MEN.

8. Kurino, Japanese Minister at Washington un-8. Kurino, Japanese Minister at Washington un-til recently, has left this country, to take up the post of Minister to Italy. Mr. Kurino made many friends here, and he will be thoroughly missed. He sailed on Wednesday. 'I leave America with the keenest regret,' he said, before his departure. 'I keenest regret," he said, before his departure. "I have learned to love your country and your institutions. It was all strange and new at first, but when one gets used to American ways he finds that they are pretty good ways. My change to Italy has nothing to do with personal reasons, but it is made necessary owing to diplomatic reasons, but it is made necessary owing to diplomatic relations. I expect to get back to the United States within a leaver or two. Things are now quiet in my country, year or two. Things are now quiet in my country, after the chaotic conditions left by the war. I am inclined to believe that the peace of the Orient is assured for some years to come. The Chinese have ansured for some years to come. The Chinese have manifested a disposition to uphold the treaty obligations, and they have gone up a great deal in the estimation of the Japaneses on that account, the estimation of the Japaneses on that account it think that Japan will advance rapidly from this time on, and that diplomatic relations are likely to remain as they now are with no further trouble."

anese diplomat, who will be one of Minister Kuri-no's assistants at the post in Italy, has arrived in New-York, and will follow his chief in a short time. This is the first time that Mr. Kasakabe has been in the United States. He has been transferred from the post in Honolulu, where he was vice-consul, to Rome, where he will be an attaché sers present, hesides about one hundred military men and civilians. Many toasts were proposed and responded to during the evening. Principal among the speakers were Irving M. Scott, General Manuel I. Barillas, formerly President of Guatemais; Addinard Beardslee, Captain Colton, Judge W. W. Morwy, J. B. Stetson and Hugh Craig. General Barillas responded to the toast "Guatemaia"; Irving M. Scott responded to the different engineers who had designed and constructed the battle-ship.

A VETERAN GETS A MANDAMUS.

Troy, N. Y., May 22.—An order has been granted by Justice Edwards, of the Supreme Court, for an alternative writ of mandamus, requiring the State superintendent of Public Buildings, Mr. Easton, to the service of the superintendent of Public Buildings, Mr. Easton, to the service of the superintendent of Public Buildings, Mr. Easton, to the service of the superintendent of Public Buildings, Mr. Easton, to the service of the service of the superintendent of Public Buildings, Mr. Easton, to the service of the superintendent of Public Buildings, Mr. Easton, to the service of the superintendent of Public Buildings, Mr. Easton, to the service of the superintendent of Public Buildings, Mr. Easton, to the service of the country before as a spost for the conditions in Hawaii, he said that an air of tranquillity pervaded the whole that an air of tranquil Senator Francis E. Warren, after a trip through the West, and especially in Wyoming, passed through the city the other day on his way back to Washington. The Senator from Wyoming was much mystified by the clamor made by the machine politicians in New-York against Major McKinley and his alleged money views. "This is a new phase of the situation to me." said Senator Warren, "and I think that it must be absolutely local, as we hear nothing of it in the West. The business men of the country are satisfied with McKinley, and in all parts of the country I have found a disposition to leave him alone, confident that he will handle the money question rightly and conservatively. The people out West are for him, and there doesn't seem to be any possibility of his being defeated for the nomination. I don't think that this beating of tom-toms and general cry of 'wolf' is going to scare the public when there is no wolf."

C. C. Shayne, the well-known business man, will spend part of the summer in Europe, but he says that he will be back in plenty of time to take off his coat and work for Major McKinley. He has no coat and work for Major McKinley. He has no doubt about the outcome at St. Louis, and remarked when some one made a comment upon the probability of Major McKinley being nominated: "Why, Major McKinley's nomination is assured. Of course, it is necessary to hold a convention and do the thing formally, but it is all over save the shouting. Major McKinley is all right on the money question. In 1890 I said that he would be the candidate for President of the Republican party at no distant date. He would veto any bill that came to him providing for the debasement of our currency. There is not a National issue that he is not safe and sure upon, and he will make an admirable President."

Officials on the Michigan division of the "Big Four" at Wabash, Ind., yesterday received notice that shipments of freight from Milwaukee East over the Graham and Morton iske line to Benton Harbor and thence to Cincinnati over the "Big Four" would begin again June I. A differential was allowed this lake and railroad route, which has handled large quantities of freight, chiefly flour, and when it was abolished several months ago the freight went by all-rail lines, since the water route could not compete. The restoration of the differential will immensely increase the business of the Michigan division.

Mr. Steinitz, the chess player, arrived in this city on board the Fürst Bismarck yesterday. He said to a reporter of The Tribune that he had come to terms with Lasker respecting the championship match, to begin on October 13 in Moscow, but as the Russian club will pay all the expenses of the players and will give a purse of 3,000 rubles, they have stipulated for a $250 side bet, which might be increased to $2,000 a side.

Considering the many battles the veteran has fought during his ten months' absence from this city, he looks well indeed, and it is his friends' hope that he will continue in good health in order to succeed in his coming tights.
